Ken E. Potter, LICSW

Ken is a Co-Director, Founding Partner and Therapist at Warren Street Family Counseling in Concord, which is one of the largest mental health providers in central New Hampshire. In addition to his work with children and families, Ken supervises, teaches, and trains therapists, educators, and graduate students. Ken's primary focus has been in family and collaborative therapies. He is one of the early students of the Narrative Therapy movement and studied with Michael White.

Teaching and Training

Ken offers a number of teaching and training workshops in narrative and family therapy. Recent workshops include:

- Responding to abuse and neglect
- Families negotiating divorce and major transitions
- Helping children with serious illness and loss
- Families responding to major illness
- Responding to common school related problems for families and educators
- Understanding and responding to trauma in families

A spirit of respect, collaboration and enthusiasm marks Ken's work and workshops.

(Click on Directions for a viewable maps)

Concord Country Club (CCC) is located north of Concord and east of I-93 between exits 16 & 17.

If coming from the South heading north, get off I93 at Exit 16, take a right at the end of the ramp (stop sign), and then a left at the next stop sign onto Mountain Road (Route 132). Stay on Route 132 (Mountain Road) for over two miles, and as you approach the highest point on this road (aka Mountain Road), take a right onto Country Club Lane, and follow it to the end. CCC is on your right.

If coming from the North, get off I93 at Exit 17 East, and travel .7 miles on Hoit Road until it intersects with Route 132. Take a right at the stop sign, and travel south on Route 132 for 2.5 miles. As the road reaches its highest point, take a left onto Country Club Lane (it will be the fourth left from your turn onto route 132). Follow Country Club Lane until the end and CCC is on the right.

JOURNEYING FROM HOME TO HOME: Narrative Therapy with Children and Families In Major Transitions

Often families enter out-patient counseling in response to major transitions and changes in life that include a structural change. These can include, but are not limited to, divorce, court ordered changes, and adjustments to primary and secondary care-taking. These adjustments are better understood as a "series of events" in families' lives that constitute a journey from home to home. Drawing upon the practices and ideas of Narrative Therapy, this workshop will engage practitioners in ideas and practices which support and sustain children and families through these very important times of life.

This will be a "hands-on" workshop as these ideas and practices will be engaged both in video recordings of recent families as well as live interviews and experiences.

Participants will have the following opportunities:

- Engage narrative questioning and explore its underpinnings as the basis of how meaning is made and sustained
- Learn the practice of Experience-near questioning with children to increase the engagement and participation of children in family sessions
- Learn the use of Witnessing Practices in family work as an alternative to direct interaction
- Discover new possibilities for collaboration with those who are not present through re-memoring and linking interviews
